

Justice and Law Enforcement: Legislation Allows Black Lung Benefits to Be Awarded Without Adequate Evidence of Disability: Hrd-80-81

GAO reviewed the procedures used by the Social Security Administration to approve black lung benefits claims. Approval of these claims was not contrary to law; it was based on provisions of law which GAO believes do not adequately assure that benefits are provided only to those disabled from black lung or to the survivors of those who died of black lung. The agency approved claims on the basis of affidavits from spouses or other dependent persons, inconclusive medical evidence, and presumptions based on years of coal mine employment. A random sample of claims indicated that, in 88.5 percent of the cases, medical evidence was not adequate to establish disability or death from black lung. GAO believes that medical evidence should be used as the basis for determining eligibility for black lung benefits, but awarding benefits based on years of employment seems more appropriate for pension programs than disability programs. GAO is currently reviewing the Department of Labor's administration of the program. This item ships from La Vergne, TN. Paperback.

Reviews

It is easy to read through easier to fully grasp. It had been written very completely and useful. I am pleased to let you know that here is the greatest book we have read during my personal life and could be the very best book for possibly.

-- Miss Marge Jerde

It is really a remarkable publication I actually have possibly study. It usually is not going to cost excessive. It has been written in an exceedingly basic way and is particularly only right after I finished reading this publication through which basically transformed me, affected the way I think.
